

GREATEST CO-OPERATIVE SCHEME IN WORLD'S HISTORY

Gigantic Experiment to Be Made in Oregon by Co-operative Christian Federation--Initial Investment of $700,000 Made.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 8.—Oregon is to be the home of the greatest experiment in co-operation that the world has witnessed. The project is backed by the moral influence of the American Institute of Social Service and by the financial powers of two of the great trust companies of this country. The name of the enterprise is the Co-operative Christian Federation. It is organized with a capital stock of $500,000. The organizer and president is Rev. H. E. Wallace, of Portland, Oregon, and the list of incorporators include many of the richest men in the west and many well known financiers. The project is financed by the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. of New York, with assets of $32,000,000 and the Trust Company of America with $68,000,000 assets. One guarantees the principal and the other the interest on the bonds. Fifty of the leading financiers and business men of the country comprise the board of trustees. The Co-operative Christian Federation is the result of many years of work and has grown out of repeated conferences with financiers and sociologists. For economic reasons, Oregon was selected as the location of the federation, as the state offered the best soil and climatic conditions for insuring financial success. The bond issue of $500,000 is secured by a first mortgage on the entire properties of the federation at a low rate of interest.

The property already acquired by the federation includes a railroad, a land grant of 80,000 acres, a stock ranch of 150,000 acres, a railroad survey and deeded right of way and various other items involving an investment of upwards of $7,000,000.

The basis of the plan is a profit sharing division of all that the federation produces from its land and factories and it is said that the division is one that is absolutely just and satisfactory to capital and labor and that strikes and kindred trouble will be impossible.

Many remarkable features that commend themselves to advanced thinkers along sociological lines are embodied in the constitution and financial plan of the federation. The humanitarian and Christian side are severed completely from the business and practical side of the undertaking, all members expressly disclaiming any interest in the property of the federation, confining their claims to the duration of their membership, receipts of current wages for their work and a share of the profits from the entire workings after providing for operating an other necessary expenses, including social advantages, relief for the sick, maintenance of widows and orphans and residence in federation towns and houses acquired by the members through their earnings.

There will be no lawsuits, no dirt, no smoke and no idlers in the towns of the federation. The streets will be walks and parks. There will be no overhead electric wires and horses and cars will not be allowed within certain limits. Everything will have its place and order with a view to the highest conditions of public safety, morality and sanitation. The factories will be operated entirely by electricity and all artificial light and heat for domestic purposes will be obtained from the same source.

The federation has no capital stock, the properties are held in trust and no member has the slightest right to interfere in the acquisition or development of property. Forty per cent of the money realized in the sale of bonds will be retained by the trust companies and reinvested by them in a class of securities corresponding to those accepted by the state of New York for investment of life insurance funds. In this way the repayment of the entire principal will be guaranteed at maturity. Sixty per cent of the bond proceeds will be taken for development of the property.

The entire enterprise is unique. It proposes to engage in agricultural pursuits including all allied industries, manufacturing all sorts of products that can be made at a profit, and engaging in transportation enterprises necessary for the development of its industries. It will buy and build railroads and boats for these purposes. It is not communistic or socialistic, but distinctly co-operative.

A spiritual department is provided, managed by ordained ministers and supported by one-tenth of the earnings and products of the federation. The use of intoxicants is prohibited except for medicinal purposes. No tobacco shall be used on federation property nor on the public streets nor in parks, pleasure grounds, hotels or public gatherings. The laws will be interpreted by a permanent board of arbitration who will settle all disputes. The by-laws provide that an applicant must sign the declaration of acceptance of the holy scriptures as given by the inspiration of God and of Jesus Christ, the Savior, and the ethics of Christ as the rule of life.

All members may have their choice of work and all work shall be deemed equally honorable and important. The aim and result of the federation towns and the not profits after all fixed charges and expenses are paid shall be placed in the federation treasury to be used in improvement and extension of federation property.

The president and originator of the federation, Herman Wallace, is a native of Tennessee. He went to work in a sawmill and at the age of 16 became a competent engineer. On the death of his father he purchased a sawmill and then went to Texas where he learned to curse and fight with the same zeal with which he now preaches and prays now. He was converted at a Methodist revival and went to college at Athens. He studied law and was admitted to the bar, coming to Tacoma where he began practice. He then returned to the ministry and in 1897 began developing the idea of a Co-operative Christian Federation.

HE CONCEIVED PLAN TO RECLAIM MESILLA VALLEY

DR. NATHAN BOYD, OF LAS CRUCES, TELLS OF PROGRESS BEING MADE ON ELEPHANT BUTTE PROJECT.

Hon. H. O. Bursum, chairman of the territorial Republican central committee, passed through the city this morning en route to Santa Fe. Mr. Bursum is a man who knows a great deal about things that are going on, but seldom talks outside of circles.

Mr. Bursum had been out to his sheep ranch; the range was good and sheep were in fine shape, and he was going to the capital to find out the news.

Thereupon, Mr. Bursum then closed up, and wanted to introduce the reporter to Dr. Nathan Boyd, an old friend of his.

Dr. Boyd is from Las Cruces, and is the original promoter of the Elephant Butte dam project. It was Dr. Boyd who first conceived the plan of reclaiming the fertile Mesilla valley by a dam across the Rio Grande, and it was Dr. Boyd who went to England and organized a syndicate of his English friends to carry the project out.

It was also Dr. Boyd who took up the syndicate bonds and shouldered the burden of some $300,000 when the American government stepped in and enjoined the English syndicate from carrying the project out because it was then thought that the Rio Grande was a navigable stream. The English and American governments began wrangling, Mexico also took a part in the wrangle, and the matter finally reached The Hague tribunal.

"But this trouble is about all over now," said Dr. Boyd this morning, "and now we are going to help Uncle Sam build the dam. The 110,000 acres necessary to secure the government in recovering the cost of the dam, will be subscribed by the middle of October, and then the actual construction work will begin just as soon as the department can pass upon these subscriptions."

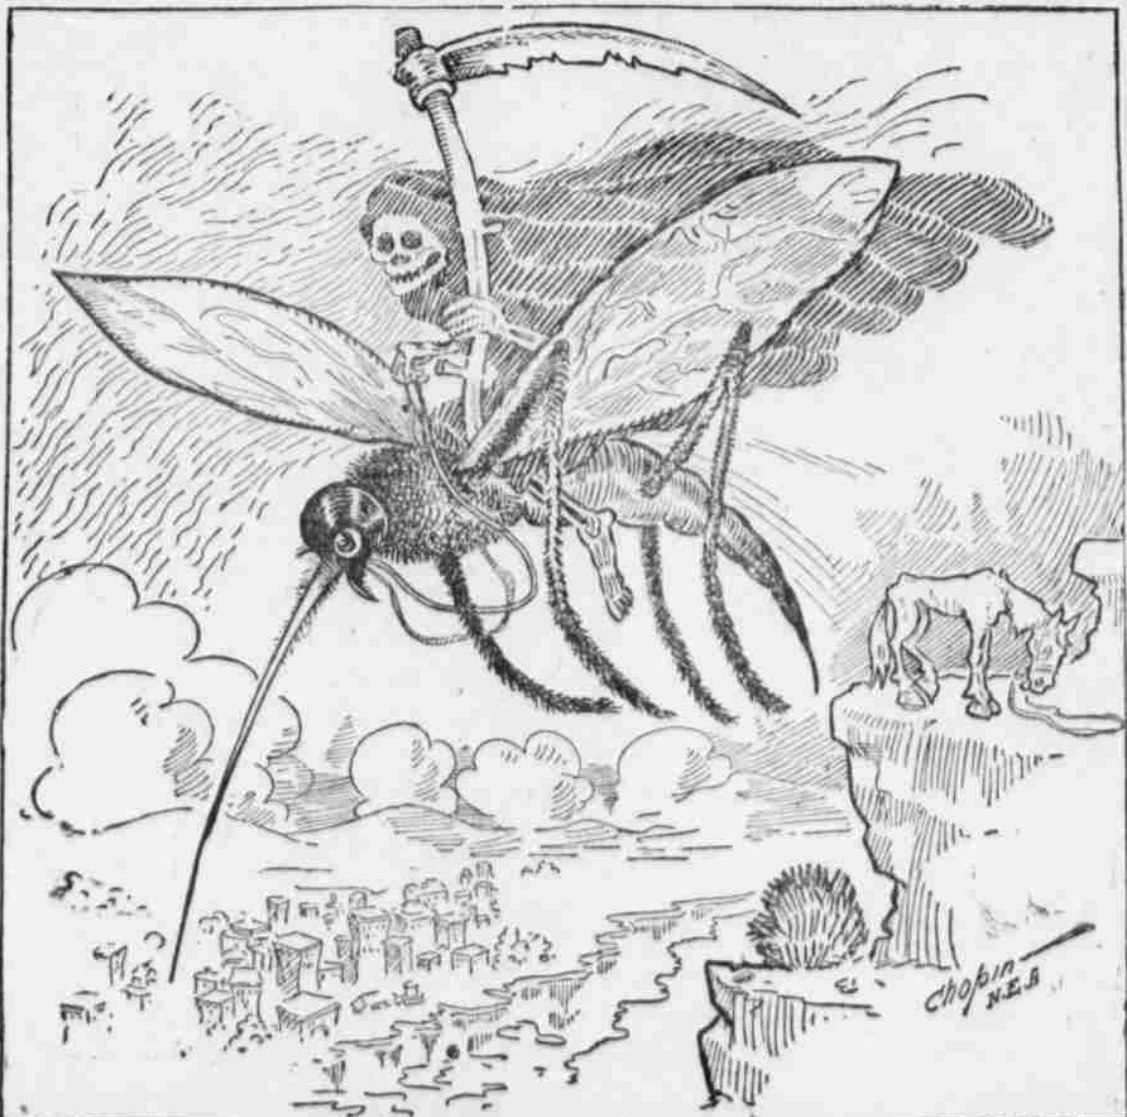

Dr. Boyd was on his way to Las Vegas and he and Mr. Bursum both proceeded north on No. 2.

Ordinary household accidents have no terrors when there's a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the medicine chest. Heals burns, cuts, bruises, sprains. Instant relief.

Louis Trauer, the Albuquerque wool buyer and sheep dealer, passing through Santa Fe on Saturday evening on his way home from Espanola, where he loaded thirty-five cars of sheep for Del Norte, Colo. The sheep had been driven overland from Cuba, Sandoval county, and considering the long drive, were in fair condition.—New Mexican.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts."

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her menstrual period she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, U.S.A. She writes:

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the action becomes diseased.
